

OMRON Education Policy

At OMRON, we are passionate about supporting education and inspiring the next generation of innovators. Our education program is designed to help students explore the world of manufacturing and automation.

We offer a range of initiatives, including our STEM Ambassador Program, STEM Open Days, and sponsorship of the WSUK Automation Competition.

With our new Education Policy, we're increasing our collaboration with schools, colleges and universities, providing access to cutting-edge technologies.

Students and educators can explore automation, robotics, vision systems, and safety products through our program.

OMRON also offers special discounts on a wide range of equipment to educational institutions, helping them bring advanced technologies into the classroom.
